HAIR'S TO RACE FOR LIFE

Kristina and Sarah were just two of the 4,200 women who took part in this year's Race for Life at Mote Park on Sunday. It was the most recent in a series of races held across Britain, organised by Cancer Research UK which hopes to raise more than £300,000 to support vital research into the condition that affects millions. Ladies walked, ran and skipped around the 5k course, cheering and dancing to remember friends and family fighting cancer or to celebrate the lives of those who were lost to the disease. SIMON ROBINSON AND LAUREN MUMFORD

POLICE ended a four-hour armed siege in the middle of Maidstone peacefully yesterday.

The man threw his gun from the window before he was arrested by armed police after four hours of negotiations.

Eye-witnesses told Yourmaidstone that a man was "pulled out" of 110 Kingsley Road at about 3.50pm.

He was taken to Maidstone police station and was still being questioned as we went to press.

Armed officers sealed off streets around a house in Kingsley Road, near Mote Park, which is believed to be home of 39-year-old William Darby, known locally as Bill.

Patrol officers were called an argument was reported at the house. They arrived to find a man with a suspected firearm at 11.30am.

Police last night confirmed a World War Two replica gun was recovered from the address.

Negotiators are understood to have spoken with the gunman by telephone as they attempted to protect people living in the area.

Waterloo Street was also closed, and police ordered people to stay indoors.

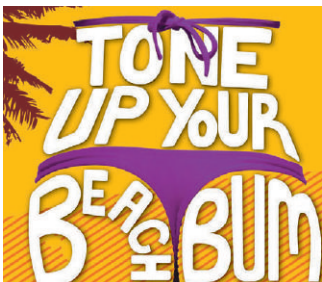

Neighbour Eine Hulbert said: "I have never seen so many policemen. It's frightening having something like this happening so close to my home."

Many people returning to their homes were also told to stay away while negotiations continued.

Ania Kasperazak, who lives on Kingsley Road, said: "When I got back from the market just after 1pm, there were police cars parked at the top of the road by the church. They told me I could go back home."

"Then, 20 minutes later a policeman with a dog came to the house. He was very polite, but he said

Villagers switched off by wind turbine plans

■ BY NICK AMES

TELEVISION reception for more than 2,400 homes in villages surrounding Marden would be hit by the construction of a wind turbine taller than St Paul's Cathedral say campaigners against the proposal.

The Kent Weald Action Group is against plans to construct the massive 416ft-tall structure on land off Shephurst Lane.

They say TV sets in Marden, Horsmonden, Goudhurst, Brencley, Matfield, Collier Street and Yalding would all be disrupted as the turbine's giant blades would be in line with transmitters.

Programmes are beamed into different parts of the mid-Kent area from masts at Dover, Blue Bell Hill and Crystal Palace in London.

But if the turbine is between the receiving aerial and the transmitter it would affect the quality of signal wherever it came from, say the protesters.

John Webley, chairman of the action group, said: "We have looked at the impact wind turbines have had on TV reception in other areas and found that the blades do interrupt transmission."

"The problem occurs when the turbine is in a line between the signal's

MAKING AIRWAVES: Thousands of TV sets will be affected by the proposed wind turbine transmitter and receiver. However we have seen nothing on this potential scale – as this turbine is so huge.

"Wind turbine companies are supposed to be responsible for sorting out problems of this nature, but I do not see how they could ensure TV reception for more than 2,000 homes.

"The scale of this problem is so large that there would obviously be huge delays in coming to any sort of solution – and that is presuming one even exists."

The plans for the turbine have been put forward by a company called Wind Direct and they are in line with the Government's sustainable energy drive.

Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government Hazel Blears said an environmental impact on the plans were unnecessary.

However, both Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells councils have called for a survey covering visual impact and effect on wildlife.

Campaigners say the impact on television reception only came to light when developer's proposals were studied in depth and called them yet another example of understating the effect on local people's lives.

They said the information has now been passed on to Maidstone Borough Council.

Mr Webley added: "The wind turbine is being built in an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty – and one which does not receive all that much wind. It will be visible from as far a field as Sevenoaks to one side and Tenterden to the other."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Missing girl found is 200 miles from home

POLICE have stopped the search for a missing teenager after she was found more than 200 miles away from her home this weekend.

The 14-year-old girl was discovered in the small town of Boston, in Lincolnshire, on Saturday and has now returned to her home in Preston.

The search for the teenager came to the county town after police discovered Miss Lewis had family connections in the Maidstone area.

Private takeover not of concern for trust

A KENT NHS trust rated as 'weak' has refuted suggestions that a private company could takeover.

Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells NHS Trust, branded 'weak' in the Healthcare Commission's assessment, said it had no reason to believe there would be any changes. The claim came after Health Minister Ben Bradshaw said bringing in private firms to run hospitals an option being considered to improve performance.

Council waiting on freight depot draft

A DATE has yet to be set for full proposals for a giant freight terminal at Bearsted to be put before Maidstone council.

The depot would take freight from lorries from across the UK and put onto trains bound for the Continent. But before the council can debate the plans the Highways Agency has asked for details from developers about how local roads would be affected.

Joyful mood as thousands enjoy Mote Park Race for Life

MORE than 4,000 jubilant women came together for a fun run in a bid to raise money to continue the fight against cancer.

An impressive 4,207 ladies took part in Cancer Research UK's Race for Life at Mote Park, Maidstone, on Sunday, to fund vital work to beat the disease and celebrate the lives of those lost to cancer.

BY LAUREN MUMFORD

Organisers said the flagship fundraiser was "blossoming in Maidstone" and they expect it to bring in about £300,000 from the two events held in the county town alone.

Race for Life coordinator Natasha Etienne said: "It was a fantastic day and it is really nice to know the people of Maidstone are behind Cancer Research UK and the cause."

"The day was like a huge party. Everyone was cheering and dancing and the atmosphere was fantastic."

"It was a celebration of those lost to cancer as well as a tribute to those who are fighting it."

It is the second Race for Life in the county town this year; the other was on May 18. The fundraiser, which was fully booked this year, was also attended by Carol McGiffin, a presenter on ITV's Loose Women programme. Carol, who lost her mum

Heather to cancer, was taking part with her niece Emma Parks, who chose to walk most of the 5k course in the 26 degree heat.

Organisers are now calling on all participants to return their sponsorship money so the fight against cancer can continue. For more information about Cancer Research UK, visit www.cancerresearchuk.org.

came to the house. He was very polite, but he said I had to stay inside.

"I was unable to get my son from school, but I have phoned them to explain. If there was the remotest chance of danger I wouldn't want him near anyway."

"My neighbours were told they couldn't go back – they were stuck at Sainsbury's wondering what was going on."

A neighbour said: "I decided to take the dog out for a walk and was told to come back inside and close the door. It's quite alarming. I've just kept out of the way."

Kenneth Bridges, who lives near the gunman's house, spoke to Yourmaidstone as the siege went on.

He said: "I opened the door and was told to get back inside. There were lots of police cars and over the road from me was a shop with three policemen and an Alsatian dog. One man had a shield and an automatic rifle."

"When I looked the other way, there were more policemen, some in uniform and others that weren't."

"They were here for about half an hour – well that's when we noticed them – but they could have been here longer than that."

"It took place well below the turning into Melville Road, somewhere between there and here. They all had protective helmets and no traffic was allowed down here because the cars were all being stopped coming through."

"The police don't get enough credit, they keep us all safe, people take the mickey out of them but they do a great job."

Schools face closure if they miss GCSE targets

■ BY LAUREN MUMFORD

THREE underachieving schools are faced with closure if GCSE grades do not pick up, following a new Government initiative to improve exam results.

Astor of Hever Community School, in Oakwood Park, Aylesford School Sports College, in Teapot Lane, and The Malling School, in West Malling, all risk closure if less than 30 per cent of pupils do not achieve at least five good GCSEs – including English and Maths.

The £400m 'National Challenge' initiative, which was launched yesterday by Schools Secretary Ed Balls, will require every secondary school in England to have achieved this GCSE benchmark within three years.

If they do not meet the standard they will either become an academy or join forces with a more successful school and become 'federated', which means both schools will have one governing body and one senior executive principal.

KCC cabinet member for educational achievement Chris Wells said: "The last set of targets to be set by government in this area was achieved by Kent schools with a year to spare."

"Kent has been working hard to improve these results long before Mr Brown and Mr Balls dreamt them up."

Executive principal of The Malling School, Ian Hobson, told Yourmaidstone he was "angered by the scheme" and said he is positive his school "will really fly through this".

Mr Hobson said: "We are already in a federation, with a brand-new school building and state-of-the-art facilities only opening in September last year – there is no question about closure."

Raw

"We had a 'good' Ofsted report and our partner school, Holmesdale Technology College, was ranked 27th in the country for high-performing schools last year."

"The Government is doing us no favours with this kind of thing and when you put it into context it actually makes the figures look quite raw."

Aylesford School Sports College currently has 16 per cent of pupils meeting the Government requirements, Astor of Hever has 24 per cent and The Malling School has 14 per cent.

Assistant headteacher of Aylesford School, Sharon Hendy, said she is confident current predictions indicate that the school is well on track to achieving the benchmark in this summer's exams.

She said: "As acknowledged during recent visits to the School by Ed Balls himself, by KCC Leader Paul Carter, as well as in Local Authority reviews and an Ofsted inspection no less than three weeks ago, we are heartened by their unanimously positive reaction to the huge strides we have taken this year to meet, and hopefully exceed, this 30 per cent benchmark."

"We have every optimism that we will be extremely proud of our students' achievements when the GCSE results are announced in August."

Astor of Hever School was unavailable to comment.

Almost one in five secondary schools in England has been given a warning to improve exam results including 33 schools in Kent, 27 in Birmingham and 13 in Manchester.

The schools have three years to meet these targets.

MARATHON GIFT FOR HOSPITAL RADIO

A man who took part in this year's London Marathon has donated more than £200 to the county town's hospital radio station.

Royal Mail employee Graham Clarkson presented a cheque for £222.50 to Hospital Radio Maidstone after completing the famous 26 mile race in April earlier this year.

Mr Clarkson has done six London Marathons and during his last and final attempt, he completed the course in two hours, 55 minutes, beating his personal best.

Mr Clarkson said: "It's 25 years since my first London Marathon and I'm pleased to complete my final one in the quickest time."

"All the volunteers at Maidstone General are unsung heroes and I'm delighted to give something back to the community."

HRM is celebrating its 45th year of broadcasting since its launch back in 1963, to mark the anniversary, the station is having a party on Saturday June 21 at Larkfield Village Hall, in New Hythe Lane.

Former members are welcome to attend, tickets cost £7.50 per person. For more information, call 01622 729800.

PRESENTING: Fiona Bruce has taken over the reigns of the Antiques Roadshow, which is coming to Leeds Castle

Roadshow brings us more history, beauty and drama

BY LAUREN MUMFORD

ONE of the country's longest running television programmes is coming to the county town to check out some of the local boot sale bargains and family heirlooms.

BBC one's Antiques Roadshow will be filming for part of its 31st series in the grounds of Leeds Castle, in Maidstone next month, bringing with it some of Britain's leading antiques and fine arts specialists – who are inviting residents to raid their attics and bring along their household treasures for inspection, free advice and valuation.

Series editor Simon Shaw says: "The team are all looking forward to visiting Leeds Castle. It's always exciting to see what will come to light on the day. We regularly see between 1,500 and 2,000 visitors on the day. Despite the high turnout everyone will get to see an expert."

This year the Roadshow's antique specialists have teamed up with BBC news and Crimewatch presenter Fiona Bruce, who will be presenting the series.

Ms Bruce said: "Presenting the Antiques

Roadshow is, for me, one of those rare and very lucky coincidences in television when you get to work on a show you already love to watch. Exploring the human story behind every object is what makes Antiques Roadshow so fascinating.

"The Antiques Roadshow isn't just about antiques – its history, beauty and drama all wrapped up in one."

Chief executive of Leeds Castle Victoria Wallace said she is delighted to be hosting the Antiques Roadshow and hopes this will give the people of Kent a chance to bring their own treasures along to the castle to check out their value.

The Antiques Roadshow has been running since 1979 when it was hosted by Bruce Parker and Angela Rippon. Since then, Arthur Negus hosted the show from 1979 to 1983, Hugh Scully from 1981 to 2000, and Michael Aspel, who retired from the programme this year, since 2000. He has been replaced by Fiona Bruce.

Residents with large pieces of furniture or other big items can send details and photographs of them to, Antiques Roadshow, BBC, Whiteladies Road, Bristol BS8 2LR or to antiques.roadshow@bbc.co.uk.

The show, which is aired every Sunday, will be setting up at the castle on July 3 – doors open at 9.30am and close at 4.30pm.

Police call for vandals information

WITNESSES are being urged to come forward after a group of youths knocked down a wall and damaged residents' property in the early hours of the morning.

Around six offenders are believed to have poured sand on the top of a soft top convertible, in Hadlow Road, pulled up plants in a garden of Birchington Close and knocked down a wall between 1am and 2am on Saturday, May 31, in the Vinters Park area.

The group believed to have been involved were all wearing black hooded tops. One had a black bomber jacket with a baseball cap and another was wearing a white top and had blonde hair.

Anyone with information is urged to contact PC Martin Barrow on 01622 604373 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Ex fireman PCSO Peter Gardner will be using Marden fire station as his base following talks with his old contacts and work colleagues in the brigade.

PCSO Gardner, who was a firefighter for more than 20 years said he thought the opportunity of working out of Marden fire station was an ideal choice.

He said: "It offers us a chance to work together on incidents which require both services, such as arson and traffic collisions."

Kent fire service area manager Sean Bone-Knell said: "We are always looking for new methods of engaging with the communities and this is another example of partnership working."

PCSO Gardner is expected to start using his base within the next two weeks.

Hospital says sorry to patient caught up in toothpaste blunder

A SCHOOL PA, who was left paralysed after supervising pupils on a trip, received an apology from hospital staff after a support worker brushed her teeth with hair removal cream.

Julia Osborne, 52, from Tonbridge, fractured her spine after falling on a coach stairwell during the school outing to France with the Cornwallis Academy last month.

She was then left in more discomfort when a support worker from Medway Martine Hospital mistook hair-removal cream for toothpaste.

A spokesperson for the hospital said there has been no physical ill-effect to Mrs Osborne following the accident.

Headteacher Sonette Schwartz said: "We are praying for Julia as a whole school. We're very close to her on a personal level and are worried and concerned."

Miss Osborne, who works for the school in Hubbards Lane, Maidstone, suffered compression fractures to two vertebrae in her spine.

Investigation

The 52-year-old underwent an emergency operation at a hospital in Lille, France, where she was in its intensive care unit for nine days before being flown home to Medway Martine on May 25.

It was four days later when incident happened at the hospital.

A hospital spokesperson said Ms Osborne had received immediate treatment, following consultation with Guy's poison unit.

The hospital has since apologised and is carrying out an internal investigation.

Miss Osborne's fiancé, Ian Thalmessinger, said it could be up to six months before she gets back any movement and is campaigning to have her moved from Medway Maritime Hospital, in Gillingham, to a spinal unit where she will receive specialist treatment.

The couple, who have five grown-up children between them, plan to marry in October.

QUESTION & ANSWER

TRACEY CROUCH

Q & A

Q Can you tell us a little bit about yourself?

A I'm 32 and work for Aviva, the fifth largest insurance company in the world, which is branded Norwich Union and RAC in the UK, as head of public affairs. I was selected to be the Conservative parliamentary candidate for Chatham and Aylesford in November 2006.

Q What attracted you to politics?

A I studied politics A-level but soon realised there is much more to the subject than simply understanding ideological differences, and the aspect that has always attracted me to the job most is that you can make a real difference when people turn to you for help.

Q Is it something you've always wanted to get involved in?

A It's funny because I would say no – I read law at university with a view to becoming a solicitor – but all my friends and family would say yes. Maybe they realised I was passionate about politics before I did.

Q Why is being involved important?

A It really annoys me when people have a jolly good moan about the state of the country and then you find out they don't even vote! I've always thought if you don't like it, do something about it; or if you love it, then stand up and be proud to say so. Becoming an MP is my way of protecting what is good and changing what is bad.

Q When and why did you decide to apply to run as MP for Chatham and Aylesford?

A Applying to become an MP is like applying for any other job, so really Chatham and Aylesford chose me. I do love the constituency though. I am a Kent girl and it is great to have a really good chance in becoming a Kent MP.

Q If elected what will you bring to both towns?

A Dedication and commitment to the community, passion and energy to engage in the issues that matter locally, and the enthusiasm to stand up and try to make a difference.

Q What does it involve when you run for MP?

A A lot of time. And a lot of walking around and shaking hands. You can't be shy and you have to be quite curious and inquisitive about people and their issues so that you can get to grips quickly with problems.

Q What are your thoughts about Ann Widdecombe?

A It is very hard not to admire Ann immensely. She has achieved a great deal in her parliamentary career without any help from anyone but through her own grit and determination. I will be doing well if I have even half of Ann's appeal.

Q What led you to support the Conservative Party, have you always been a Tory?

A I have always been Conservative. I grew up under Margaret Thatcher and admired many of her policies but I also really like John Major's "one nation" approach to politics.

Q What has been your proudest moment to date?

A Being selected as the candidate in Chatham and Aylesford was by far my proudest moment. I am glad my grandma was still alive at the time. At her funeral last year everyone kept telling me how proud she was of me – I know she is keeping an eye on my campaign from afar.

Q Do you live locally? If not and you are elected, would you move closer to the area?

A I am looking to buy at the moment and have fallen in love with a little place in Aylesford, but with the housing market as it is am just being a bit more cautious at the moment and watching to see what happens.

Q Is it important to know and live in the area you represent?

A It is absolutely vital to understand the issues that concern local people and the only way to truly do that is to be part of the community. I spend a lot of time with people who are not part of my campaign and they not only keep me up to date on the key issues but also keep me grounded.

The Conservative parliamentary candidate for Chatham and Aylesford took time out of her busy schedule to talk to Lauren Mumford about why everyone should get involved in politics

The passionate heart Dickens kept hidden

BY NICK AMES

AN INVESTIGATION into the double life of world-renowned author Charles Dickens is set to shock fans who regard him as the outstanding example of Victorian English virtue.

A Channel 4 drama-documentary filmed in Medway and Thanet is set to reveal the man who penned such classics as Great Expectations, A Christmas Carol and A Tale of Two Cities ripped his family apart during a 13-year affair with an actress.

The programme will suggest during this time he fathered two illegitimate children who died at a young age.

Acclaimed actor David Haig portrays the author, with Hollywood star Amy Shiels as his mistress Ellen Ternan - known as Nelly.

The programme - filmed at Dickens' Swiss chalet in Rochester and Margate's Theatre Royal - will be screened at 9pm on Monday.

It is part of a series called Victorian Passions which lifts the lid on a so-called era of respectability.

A Channel 4 spokesman said: "The very symbol of Victorian virtue in public, for 13 years Charles Dickens conducted a secret love affair with an actress, possibly fathering two children who died in infancy.

"Attempts to conceal the affair involved a frantic double life with complex financial arrangements, networks of safe houses and bonfires of private letters and papers.

"It also entailed a series of ruthless acts which caused misery and irreparable rifts in his family. The programme revisits locations

SECRET AFFAIR: David Haig portrays Charles Dickens and Amy Shiels is Ellen Ternan in Channel 4's drama-documentary about their 13-year affair. Inset: Haig gives a reading as Dickens where Dickens conducted his romance in near total secrecy, piecing together evidence that testifies to the couple's love.

"Interviews with experts, aficionados and descendants of the great man explore the effect the affair had on Dickens and his legacy."

The programme is presented by Charles Dance, who recently appeared in the BBC's acclaimed production of Dickens' Bleak House.

He takes the role of a detective questioning experts on how the relationship which betrayed his wife Catherine - from whom he eventually separated - affected his writing and public personality.

Key scenes are dramatised to give the viewer greater understanding of those involved.

The programme was filmed on location at Dickens' Swiss chalet, which is now in the grounds of Eastgate House, Rochester.

It was originally in the garden of his home in Gad's Hill, just outside the city, and was the scene of much of his writing.

The Theatre Royal was chosen as the crew wanted to use locations Dickens was passionate about and he frequently held readings of his work there.

Desk sells well above Expectation

A CHAIR and desk believed to have been used by Charles Dickens when he wrote Great Expectations at his home in Gad's Hill near Rochester have been sold for £433,250 at auction.

The items were expected to sell for between £50,000 and £80,000 at Christie's auctioneers in London.

But competition was extremely intense for the items donated to raise funds for Great Ormond Street Children's Hospital by a family relative of the author.

Irish collector Tom Higgins will now take the historic furniture back to his home in County Wicklow.

The mahogany desk bears a bronze plaque which carries Dickens' name.

Along with the walnut chair, it was passed down to the author's great-great-grandson, Christopher Charles Dickens. When he died in 1999, his wife Jeanne-Marie donated both items to Great Ormond Street.

"Dickens was a champion of the poor and needy and an enthusiastic patron of Great Ormond Street Hospital in its early days," she said.

"I felt that it was Charles's wish and it is an honour for me to fulfil this wish."

Mr Higgins said: "I'm a big Dickens fan, I always have been. It's an important piece of literary history."

Dickens was one of Great Ormond Street's first patrons and spoke at its first fund-raising dinner in 1858.

A hospital spokesman said: "Money raised from the sale will help rebuild and refurbish the hospital, buy equipment and fund research."

Bob to bring his unique comedy to our airwaves

BY SIMON ROBINSON

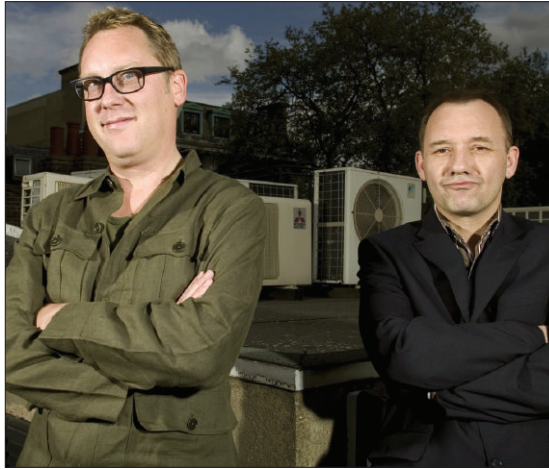

SURREAL comic Bob Mortimer will take to the airwaves on Saturday as a guest host for BBC Radio Kent.

The acclaimed performer, who dominated the early 90s' TV comedy schedules with partner-in-crime Vic Reeves, will cover for regular host Pat Marsh, who is on leave.

The former Shooting Stars presenter said he was looking forward to his three-hour slot, having grown up with the wireless.

He said: "I fell in love with radio when I was young – it was the only way you could listen to songs your parents didn't approve of."

"I used to put a transistor, a tranny, under my pillow in my bedroom and that's what has always made radio a bit magic for me."

SHOOTING STARS: Bob Mortimer, right, with his comedy pal Vic Reeves

"I like talking to people on the radio because they are not physically near you and so you can say what you want without fear of attack or disease."

10 years, Bob said he's grown to love the Garden of England and has even adopted Kent as his second home.

He said: "I like Kent for the very obvious reasons; it's very pretty and the weather is a lot nicer than up north where I am from."

"I have lived in several places in Kent and also filmed all over the county, and we've always had a warm welcome from people in Kent, I've never had difficulties with people."

"It feels very English to me, Kent, and I am very much an Englishman in that Morrissey sense."

Welcoming the new boy, Radio Kent's managing editor Paul Leaper said: "With a love of radio and a unique take on the world, we're really pleased he's taking over the BBC Radio Kent airwaves on Kent's radio station this Saturday morning."

Bob Mortimer is on BBC Radio Kent on Saturday, June 14, from 10am to 1pm.

Show you have a heart, support the foundation

THE British Heart Foundation is running a campaign this month to raise £1.5 million to fund life-saving research.

The Help a Heart drive comes after recent figures showed 155 people across Britain die prematurely every day from heart and circulatory disease.

The charity undertakes work into preventing the condition, as well as assisting people who have had operations.

Throughout June house collections are being organised and fundraising buttons will be on sale in charity shops.

Every day 12 babies are born in Britain with congenital heart disease and many need specialist care to survive.

Two-year-old Cordelia Griffin is one child whose life was saved by vital research.

Her mother Maddie, bought up in Margate, said: "When we were told our newborn daughter would have to have major surgery we were devastated."

Devastating

"It was the worst thing in the world that could have happened to us."

"Fortunately she responded well to the treatment and after a worrying few weeks she was able to come home."

"Thanks partly to the BHF, Cordelia has been blessed with a normal, happy childhood."

Julie Martin, from Rochester, had a heart attack five years ago at the age of 34.

She explained why the campaign is so important to people like her.

"After I was released from hospital I had a BHF nurse to help me," she said.

"She took time to come and see me and to explain things, such as the food that was best for me to eat and most appropriate exercises."

"After recovering from a heart attack you look fine on the outside but inside you are still healing and she helped me to cope with that."

"This is why I feel this campaign and the work of the charity is so important."

Water company wants to flood areas of county

PROPOSALS to flood an area of land in order to create a new reservoir serving homes in Kent will be displayed across the county by South East Water during the next two weeks.

The company, which serves 1.97 million customers across the area, says new supplies are essential if the shortages of recent years are not repeated.

A drought existed in the region served by the company – which covers most of Kent – from 2005 to 2007.

So, plans have been put forward by the company to guarantee supplies until 2035. They call for a new reservoir to be built near Canterbury by 2024 and facilities for further reserves in Surrey to be constructed. The area to be developed in Kent is near to Broad Oak, on the Sturry Road out of Canterbury.

Together the reservoirs will supply 77 million litres of water every day – a figure which, combined with other developments such as more exploitation of underground supplies, will cope with an estimated expanded population increase to 2.3 million.

A roadshow detailing the proposals is set to tour the area and will be on display at the Abode Hotel in Canterbury on June 16. It will move to Park Mall Shopping Centre in Ashford on June 18 and Maidstone Town Hall on June 20.

Proposal summaries are available at libraries across the county and comments from residents of affected areas are welcome.

Young farmers aim for top trophy spot

MEMBERS of Oldborough Manor Young Farmers' Club have been preparing their cattle, sheep and pigs for this year's Kent County Show at Detling. The animals will be exhibited from July 11 to 13.

The Maidstone school's farm manager Lorraine Dent said: "We've been extremely successful in the past, winning several trophies for our farm animals."

"Last year we came overall third when competing against 15 other young farmers' clubs, so this year we're planning to improve on that."

Safety in action day

SCHOOL children from across Maidstone will experience a series of challenges and scenarios during a 'Safety in Action' event tomorrow.

The day, which is being held at Invicta Barracks in Maidstone, will see 1,300 year six pupils get to grips with day-to-day challenges and potentially life-threatening situations including environmental hazards, electricity, fire, road and bus safety, stranger danger, drugs awareness and first aid.

Why MP Mike asked to visit Aylesford

■ BY LAUREN MUMFORD

TOP Tory MP Michael Grove toured a school in Maidstone last week – and was so impressed he wants to come back for another visit.

The Shadow Secretary of State for Children, Schools and Families came to the county town for a meeting with opposition leader David Cameron's cabinet on Tuesday morning.

Following the get-together in the town centre Mr Grove requested a visit to Aylesford Primary School because of its outstanding reputation.

After the tour he said headteacher Sue Evans should be proud of an "exceptional primary school".

Aylesford and Chatham parliamentary candidate Tracey Crouch escorted Mr Grove throughout his day in the county town.

She said his request to visit the Teapot Lane school in Aylesford was, "hugely flattering, because it usually happens the other way round."

Maidstone councillor Dave Smith and Mrs Evans took them on a tour of the school.

Miss Crouch said: "I have to say it is a fantastic school, the energy and enthusiasm of the teachers is great and the happiness of the children – and to be fair, the exam results alone show it is a good school."

"As soon as you walk into Aylesford primary you know you are entering somewhere special – it was evident almost immediately."

She said the first thing they saw was a salsa dancing class, then as they walked into the next room all the children were gathered around a teacher and singing along as he played a guitar.

OUTSTANDING: MP Michael Groves with children at Aylesford Primary School which he visited on a trip to Maidstone

"When we were shown into the next classroom the children were playing a game of Simon Says in French," Miss Crouch said.

Mrs Evans is keen to stress that it isn't just about results – saying the school has had little money invested into it and although it is tidy, it is in need of repair.

Miss Crouch said: "The school is a delightful primary in the shadow of the new sports academy next door."

"It's sad that such a huge amount of money has been invested in the secondary school and yet the primary school has had very little extra money invested in it.

"So much time and energy is spent devising policy on secondary education that often the primary system is forgotten despite the fact that if you get it wrong in the early years, then the rest of the education system falters."

School and council officials hope the visit will result in more financial investment being brought into the primary.

Mr Grove said he thoroughly enjoyed his visit and next time he is in the area he would be "delighted to come back."

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living in and around Maidstone...

Brussels bureaucrats may be right about 2p banger

DOES anyone remember an episode of the TV show Yes Minister when there was a great deal made of a European Union bid to ban the British banger?

The whole plot revolved around the fact that it was considered unhealthy by European officials, who wanted to call it an "emulsified fried fat and gristle tube", or something similar.

Well, looking at the ingredients of the new 2p sausage as promoted by Asda I feel the Brussels bureaucrats might just have a point. At 16p for eight the Smart Price sausage contains 34 per cent pork – all well and good, even if sausages sold by rival stores boast pork content in excess of 90 per cent.

But other ingredients include ammonium carbonate, sodium metabisulphate, disphosphates and ascorbic acid – not to say rusk. Sounds lovely.

And where does all this fit in with the current fad for healthy eating?

If you listen to certain sections of the media you'd have thought everyone scoured supermarket shelves in order to make sure every product they bought had an organic label on it.

Asda says the cheap sausage has been brought to the shelves in response to customer demand and contains no artificial colours or flavourings.

The company says that it is aimed at cash-strapped families and four people can be fed a meal of bangers, mash and carrots at a cost of £1.60. That's 40p a head – cheaper than a Mars Bar each. This may be so.

But I was of the impression everyone nowadays wanted sun-dried tomatoes with no food miles but a twist of coriander in the juice.

That certainly doesn't appear to be so and I think this Asda sausage has got to be – by virtue of its price – one of the least appetising foods ever put on the market.

The most unhealthy snack I have ever seen was in the USA – at a baseball game in fact.

A lutherburger is a cheeseburger smothered in sauces with the normal bun replaced by two halves of a glazed Krispy Kreme Donut.

It was invented by a diner in Georgia when the cook ran out of buns but had doughnuts.

Apparently each one contains more than 1,000 calories a portion and is accompanied by warnings that a bite can cause heart problems. Or just make you sick.

But at least it doesn't have an ingredients list which sounds like a GCSE chemistry question as the Asda delight seems to.

Other unhealthy foods have been identified by so-called consumer watchdogs as fizzy drinks, chips, doughnuts, coffee cake (why?), hot dogs, canned soup and luncheon meat.

With the possible exception of the last item the others are all perfectly palatable.

Of course, if you want something low on the health factor but a guaranteed delight I recommend a bowl of golden nuggets – the honey-based breakfast cereal which has yee-haw! (Or so it says on the packet).

WIN a Weber barbecue with British Turkey

DELICIOUS: One of Phil Vickery's summer barbecue favourites is juicy turkey, basil and corn burgers

THERE'S nothing better than a juicy barbecued burger – and now a celebrity chef has shared his secret recipe for a healthy version all the family will love.

Phil Vickery's tip this summer is – make your burgers with British turkey meat.

Barbecue fan Phil, who even travelled to America to brush up his technique, says: "In my view, the leg, or dark meat, makes better burgers, purely because the meat is juicier."

"Turkey breast is also fine, but because skinned breast of turkey can be less than two per cent fat, when it cooks, it may end up a more crumbly texture."

But it definitely won't be dry, promises Phil. "I have discovered a great trick. If you add a little mayonnaise to the raw mix it really helps to keep the burger beautifully juicy and tasty."

Find ready minced packs of turkey in your supermarket – look out for the familiar Red Tractor logo alongside the Quality British Turkey mark, your guarantee you are buying turkey farmed in the UK to high standards of food safety, traceability and animal welfare.

Need some incentives to get things fired up? We've teamed up with British Turkey to offer you the chance of winning a fabulous Weber blue charcoal One Touch Gold Barbecue plus a copy of The Little Book of Great British Turkey Recipes.

Simply answer the question below and send your entry on a postcard along with your email address (if applicable), name, address, and daytime telephone number to Weber BBQ Comp, KOS Media, Apple Barn, Smeeth, Ashford, Kent, TN25 6SR. The closing date is June 20, 2008.

Try Phil's recipe for juicy turkey, basil and corn burgers and find more great recipes on www.britishturkey.co.uk and check out Weber's range of barbecues and accessories at www.weberbbq.co.uk.

TALK TIME

DEBORAH PUXTY

The 31-year-old Cancer Research UK volunteer took the time to speak to Yourmaidstone about her job and why she enjoys it.

How long have you been volunteering for Cancer Research UK?

I began to get involved with Cancer Research UK in early 2006, after I lost my nan to lung cancer in 2005. I started with the Race for Life, which I ran despite feeling poorly. I had always planned to run the next year but could never have foreseen that I would have been diagnosed with bowel cancer in November 2006. So now, I want to be able to help raise awareness and be able to provide support to those who need it as diagnosis, treatment and post treatment are all equally hard times.

What does volunteering involve?

As well as taking part in the Race for Life, my volunteering involves being on the organising committee for Relay for Life Rochester, which is an annual community event taking place over 24 hours. I also take part in fundraising activities, local collections and share my story of survival to raise awareness. Volunteering can take as little or as much time as you want it to - from two hours, a month, to a number of hours a week - every hour helps.

Why should people volunteer?

I get satisfaction out of knowing that not only am I raising awareness, but there is hope after diagnosis. Volunteering for me is almost a therapy. I believe that if I can help one person then I have achieved my goal. We can all do something to help.

• You can volunteer locally for Cancer Research UK by contacting area volunteer manager Helen Water on 07765 896879 or sending an email to helen.waters@cancer.org.uk.

Social housing is back in demand as crunch bites

EXCLUSIVE
BY LAUREN MUMFORD
THE demand for cheaper properties has soared with Problems will get worse, not better

May I reflect on the headline of the article which appeared in the June 4 edition of Yourmaidstone, which read Social housing is back in demand as crunch bites.

The quoted comments in the article by the chief housing officer for Maidstone that the numbers on the housing register is rising each year and is now 2,500, indicates the demand has not gone away and remains as an indication of the continuing failure of current housing policies to secure satisfactory homes for those unable to purchase at the current (though falling) prices, as well as those who cannot compete in the market to rent.

That the situation is indeed worsening is borne out by the Housing Corporation Report to the South East England Regional Assembly for June that the numbers "continue to fall short of South East Plans".

Even more worrying is the fact the number of starts of new houses is also declining and some building firms have announced their intention to halt new construction in the present economic situation, the largest, Persimmon, is among them; this year is likely to show a very low level of starts compared to 1998.

'One in three county town's oaps seek love online'
The county towns over 60s have been branded 'silver surfers' and record numbers are taking to the internet to look for companionship, a survey has shown. It has been revealed that more than one third of men and women are going online to look for love and find new friends in chat rooms.

The ambitions of Government to achieve their targets, which are modest compared to need, are likely to be thwarted by the current situation and more people, especially the young are going to be disappointed.

Maidstone council has long ago admitted they cannot achieve enough building to cover need and as the chief housing officer has said the situation "is likely to continue".

Leslie Turner,

Men should keep their clothes on

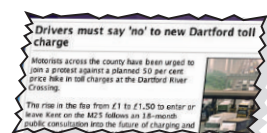

With reference to projecting a good image to people visiting our lovely town of Maidstone, which is rich in history, architecture and the warmth of residents, as well as those who run the numerous businesses, with the onset of summer and despite the warmer weather, men ought to keep their shirt/T-shirt on.

It is my understanding that a gentleman only goes around stripped to the waist in the privacy of his bathroom, bedroom and on a building site.

I hasten to add, I am not the only one of this view.

On discussing this issue with a colleague, she informs me a neighbour of hers was observed taking his rubbish outside merely wearing his Y-fronts. This caused her great distress!

Drivers urged to vote no to increased toll

Only foreign vehicles should have to pay

I've just read the article by James Alexandre about increases in QE11 Bridge tolls.

Why not charge all foreign-registered HGVs, vans and cars, say £25 per crossing.

By only having toll booths across half the road width, this would benefit all users as the flow of traffic would be greatly improved, the environment would benefit also, by reducing pollution from vehicle exhausts, and reduce the carbon foot print.

All UK-registered vehicles would have free and unrestricted access across the Thames.

Freight costs affect price of everything

The rising price of oil on the world market during the last two years has meant we have all suffered. Very bad news for car drivers commuting to work, doing the shopping or getting about. Dire for operators of lorries and vans who need to move their goods as part of their business. Worst of all for hauliers, whose entire business is to move other people's goods. Fuel now represents almost 40 per cent of total operating costs. Bulk diesel prices have risen from 76p last May to 106p per litre today – a 40 per cent increase in just 12 months.

Diesel is the lifeblood of the economy. If you've got it then it has almost certainly been inside the back of a lorry. Everything in the supermarkets, high street, the bricks that build our homes and the beer that stocks our pubs. You name it and it's the product of a lorry journey. You may not like the lorry, but it delivers everything you need.

Sadly, the problems caused by a rising oil prices are compounded in the UK by our ultra-high tax regime. Duty on diesel is 50p per litre compared to the European average of 25p. A single 40-tonne lorry, doing around seven miles to the gallon, now faces an annual fuel bill of between £40,000 and £45,000, of which over £21,000 is tax.

The price of diesel, and the tax paid on it, impacts on the whole population. It is an ingredient in the price of everything. That is why it is so important for the Government to change its tax strategy and reduce the level of duty paid by commercial vehicle operators. Not just for the benefit of those operators, but for all of us as consumers. High diesel prices stoke inflation.

The call for lower diesel duty is not just self interest by the transport industry. It is important for every one of us.

Support your dad this Father's Day

This June is the Everyman Male Cancer Awareness month, a time to think about the 37,000 men affected by male cancers (prostate and testicular) every year in the UK.

Everyman is committed to changing that statistic and so am I. That's why I'm supporting their partnership with Debenhams, who with the help of the public, hope to raise an amazing £100,000 to fund vital research.

Every time you buy something from their menswear range in the lead up to Father's Day, money will be donated to find new cures for male cancer.

And you can give your dad the chance to win some great prizes by nominating him as your town's Father of the Year.

So, get your dad a great present, and help us fight against male cancer.

PLATINUM: Carl and Andy Pemberton almost gave up performing after mounting debts, but X Factor gave them a new chance to succeed in music

Journey South's trek continues

Three years on for those X Factor lads on tour with their third album

JOURNEY South might have appeared to win overnight success on a TV talent show, but the reality was very different.

Brothers Carl and Andy Pemberton, from Middlesbrough, had already been gigging around the pubs of the North East for several years before their big break came along with X Factor.

They powered through to the final of ITV's talent search and won third place in the 2005 series.

Since then they have released two albums and enjoyed a sell-out 41-date national tour, with fans of the show clamouring to see them perform live.

With their good looks and great voices, the brothers have built up a large fan base and were able to have full control over their latest album Home, which was released on their own record label.

But despite their success, the brothers have never forgotten how hard it was to make their mark before X Factor came along.

JOURNEY SOUTH

Central Theatre, Chatham

Determined to pursue a music career, Carl gave up his plumbing apprenticeship three months before he would have qualified and the pair set off to London with a caravan they had bought on a credit card.

The dramatic move inspired the duo's name, but they were soon to discover that the capital's streets were not paved with gold.

After two years of gigging, the pair had run up £20,000 of debt and made little progress in the industry.

"I think we felt like we had given it as much as we could, because we got into a lot of debt between us," Carl said. "We thought, 'when do we pull the plug?' because the amount just kept running up. In the end we just had to quit and it was heartbreaking."

Bearing in mind their previous disappointments, Carl and Andy were cautiously optimistic when they made it through the first round of X Factor's auditions.

They became a favourite with the viewers and judges, winning them over with strong rock anthems and fast development.

They even tamed the fearsome Simon Cowell, who signed them to Sony BMG when the show finished.

Despite losing out to eventual winner Shayne Ward, the brothers had made an impact and their musical career had a new lease of life.

Their first album went platinum and since then they have attracted interest from South Africa, Japan and the Netherlands.

Fans will have the opportunity to meet the boys at the Central Theatre, as they will sign copies of their new CD Home after the show.

The concert starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £17.50/£16.

To book call the box office on 01634 338338 or visit the website at www.medway.gov.uk/theatrebooking.

WHAT YOU DON'T KNOW ABOUT WOMEN

Sunday, June 15
Hazlitt Arts Centre, Maidstone

WHAT better way for a man to celebrate Father's Day than to find out what makes women tick?

Featuring three great local singers and a collection of timeless songs, What You Don't Know About Women is a celebration of emotive songs from a variety of musical styles.

Sarah-Jane Hassell and Georgie Grassom (pictured right) met while working together in Five Voices and One Piano – The Best of the West End, where they got talking about their favourite songs and found their tastes to be similar.

Grassom grew up with blues, soul and jazz while Hassell is a fan of old jazz and swing, so they decided to create a show where they could each choose what they love to sing. They will be joined for the first time by Bonnie Hassell, a member of Sarah-Jane's band Java Jam, and accompanied by musical director Eric Lund. Performances start in the Exchange Studio at 3pm and 7.30pm and tickets cost £12. Call the box office on 01622 758611 or book online at www.hazlittartscentre.co.uk.

THE ZOMBIES AND THE YARDBIRDS

Thursday, June 19
Assembly Hall Theatre, Tunbridge Wells

TWO legendary bands will be taking to the stage in one amazing concert when Tunbridge Wells welcomes The Zombies and The Yardbirds.

In the 60s The Zombies were part of the British invasion of America and were one of the few UK acts to enjoy true global popularity. They scored two US number one singles, drew crowds of more than 30,000 people in the Philippines and their inventive chord structures really set them apart from their contemporaries. Hits included She's Not There, Tell Her No and Time of the Season.

It is claimed that The Yardbirds (pictured) laid much of the groundwork for rock guitar as we know it. The line-up has variously included Eric Clapton, Jeff Beck, Jimmy Page and Gypie Mayo, while their music bridged the gap between early 60s white R&B and the psychedelic power chords of the 70s. The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets cost £22.50. Call the box office on 01892 530613/532072 or book online at www.assemblyhalltheatre.co.uk.

FOR YOU TO ENJOY: The Hives and The Cribbs are two of the many great acts confirmed to play at this year's Port Lympne Wild Animal Park's Zoo Thousand festival

Fancy a festival but not the ticket price?

ZOO Thousand organisers are offering free entry, food and drinks to next month's eagerly anticipated three-day music festival.

The offer sounds too-good-to-be-true. And it is. All you have to do to claim your freebies is put in two eight hour shifts behind the festival's bars*.

A spokesman for Peppermint Bars, the firm behind the volunteer deal, said: "There is a common thread between people who attend festivals and those who work at them - we all love being part of it."

"We know it sounds cheesy but apart from striving to deliver the best bar service to the festival, above all, we want you to have a good time doing it."

"In exchange for your hard work - two six to eight hour shifts - we'll get you in free to the festival and provide you with a meal and two free drinks from the bar for each shift you complete."

■ BY SIMON ROBINSON

Zoo8 takes place at Port Lympne Wild Animal Park near Ashford from Friday to Sunday, July 4-6.

Mark Ronson, The Cribbs and The Hives have been confirmed as the main headliners for the festival, taking to the stage after a host of established acts, such as Dizzee Rascal, Ash, British Sea Power, Delays, Athlete and Funeral For A Friend.

Those seeking the next-big-thing have also been catered for, with dozens of promising up-and-comers lined up to perform across six smaller stages. If you are unfamiliar with the works of Kid Harpoon, Underground Heroes, Rosemary, Tom Allalone and Brigadier Ambrose, now's your chance to be enlightened.

A standard weekend ticket costs £99 for an adult and £50 for children aged between six and 15. Day entry costs £45 for adults and £25 for children.

Of course, entry is free for festival volunteers.

Peppermint Bars' spokesman added: "Our new registration system for 2008 has many improvements, including allowing you full control to request the exact bar and shift times you want to work online, and allowing you to come back and change your shifts any time until just before the festival."

"This means that even if you don't get the exact shifts you want at first, you can check back regularly and if a space opens up you prefer - you can switch at any time."

YOUR TV REVIEW

BIG BROTHER
Channel 4, week nights, 9pm

BY TOM BETTS

IT'S summer time and the most derided show ever to push its way down the tube into our homes has returned.

No matter what your view of this reality TV heavyweight is, you have to say that double B has done well to reach this, its ninth series proper.

The show's longevity is undoubtedly its real feat.

All the more remarkable considering the Shilpa Shetty racism row, the police entering the house to split up a fight and one participant (Bonnie) who couldn't even pronounce her own name – the real low point, perhaps.

Worst of all, we even had the non-event that was the Big Brother: Celebrity Hijack (did anyone actually watch after the first night?), yet still it lives.

This is TV's equivalent to the movie villain who won't die, no matter if he has been stabbed, shot, thrown off a skyscraper or subjected to a whole series of My Family.

Nor does a show divide the country in this way and for such a sustained period of time.

On the one hand you have those who hate it and everything it stands for (but who often watch anyway) and on the other hand the hordes who become a little obsessed and tune in every night requiring their fix of madness.

All fine enough, although if you find yourself actually voting then you need to start asking yourself a few serious questions.

The simple fact is that every year millions of us lap it up.

And what better way for Channel 4 to further split the country into two

HOUSE OF HORRORS: Davina McCall will be keeping an eye on the Big Brother housemates warring factions than this year's rum bunch.

Contestants include a love-struck couple, accountant, masseuse, model, radio producer, dancer, toy demonstrator, trainee teacher, executive chef, and the usual smattering of students.

It is 93 days long, bound to be the talk of workplaces up and down the land for some months and, one suspects, still to be with us for many years yet.

Of course the cruel irony here is the contestants, every fame-seeking last one of them, will never be more well-known than when they are in the house itself and will likely have a lousy, traumatic journey as producers Endemol have promised to get tough... again.

There was even a fake marriage in week one.

Now, tough is one thing but torture – isn't that illegal?

YOUR WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY RUSSELL GRANT

AQUARIUS (Jan 21-Feb 19)
YOU finally have a chance to slow down and enjoy an easy life. An influential contact or close friend could prompt you to try a new pastime and it will give you a big buzz. A financial setback could occur. Have faith that your cash flow will soon recommence.

TAURUS (Apr 21-May 21)
MONEY could come and go very quickly, but that doesn't bother you a bit. You consider your cash well spent as you buy beautiful things to uplift and inspire you. A friend's erratic behaviour could upset you. It's hard to know whether you should confront them or let sleeping dogs lie.

DOING things for yourself has very little appeal this week. You're ready to do your bit on the behalf of others. Getting involved with a good cause should prove exhilarating. Don't be surprised if you're offered a leadership position. People are drawn to your warmth and generosity.

A PROGRAMME of self-improvement could get rewarding. Although breaking a bad habit won't be easy, you can do it. Contrary to what you might think, people will respect your admission of weakness. They'll offer all the support you need to overcome this obstacle.

A horse by any other name

BY ED HILL

WHEN I was asked to take a gastronomic tour of Flanders the history of the suffering of the soldiers involved in World War One sat uncomfortably with the thought of stuffing my face with the region's best food and drink, but in many ways the region is an example of the very best and worst of human civilisation.

Firstly, I should say the area is an ideal destination for someone in Kent to make a weekend break, although there is plenty to justify a longer stay.

We travelled with Norfolkline which runs ferries from Dover to Dunkerque. Ypres is less than an hour's drive from the port and makes the ideal centre from which to travel around the region.

On the way to the city we stopped to sample one of Belgium's most famous exports – beer. We began at the De Dolle Brewers (or Mad Brewer's) company in Esen.

This company was started in 1980 by two brothers, Chris and Jo Hoteller, and produces some of the region's most distinctive bottle fermented beers. Gert, the brother's 90-year-old mother, and our guide, swears by the beers medicinal properties and judging by the speed she climbed the stairs it was hard to disagree.

GOURMET: The central square of Ypres has plenty of lively cafe-bars

We then travelled to Westvleteren to sample beer brewed by the Trappist monks at Sixtus Abbey; named by one US website as being the best in the world.

In Ypres we stayed close to the centre at the Ambrosia Hotel. The town retains its mediaeval character including the impressive Cloth Hall which houses the In Flanders Fields museum. The lively town square provides a relaxed atmosphere in which to eat and drink.

The In De Zon restaurant specialises in serving some of the region's most well-known dishes.

es. I chose to eat paardenvlees (horse).

Most people in the UK may object to eating My Little Pony but to be honest I have never got on with the things, so the opportunity of eating one seemed too good to miss. In fact, unless I had been told it was equine in origin I would have assumed it was just a tender cut of beef.

We spent the next day exploring the region's bloody World War One history. Until September the In Flanders Fields Museum is holding an excellent exhibition about the many peoples and cultures from outside Europe which were involved in the war.

The countryside is dotted with cemeteries with war dead from the conflict. We visited the largest Commonwealth cemetery Tyne Cot which contains the remains of more than 11,000 men and lists the names of more than 35,000 men missing in action on its walls.

In the evening we observed the Last Post which is held at the city's Menin Gate everyday at 8pm.

We then went to dine at the Regina restaurant off the town square where we were served an excellent pigeon dish. Just to say I had not set out to eat unusual animals during my visit, that is just how it turned out.

I wondered if the next day's menu might contain weasel. In fact I was served rabbit, veal and chicken in a clear aspic jelly at the Gasthof De Kring restaurant in Poperinge.

Flanders is a region of stark contrasts. It may seem it is dominated by the history of World War One, but it has much to offer the visitor.

Ed Hill travelled to Belgium with Norfolkline on its Dover to Dunkerque route. The company has recently introduced three new ferries on the route. Prices start at £19 for a one-way trip for a car and up to four passengers. Visit www.norfolkline.com for more information. Other cross-Channel operators include SeaFrance and P&O. Accommodation is varied. A night's stay at the new Ambrosia Hotel close to the city centre in Ypres, costs from about 54 euros for a single, or 69 euros for a double or twin.

The In Flanders Fields Museum's Man Culture War exhibition mentioned in the article runs until September 7. Opening hours are 10am to 6pm. Adult entry is eight euros for both the exhibition and museum or five euros just for the exhibition.

Director Ben's back baby back

BY ROBIN WALKER

BEN Affleck proves even the crash and burn of a high profile Hollywood romance can have a silver lining.

At the height of his tabloid-blazing relationship with Jennifer Lopez four years ago, he started writing a film script of Dennis Lehane's novel Gone Baby Gone, a harrowing thriller about the search for a missing four-year-old girl and the people it involves.

Initially he thought of it as a vehicle for Lopez, but instead it has become an acclaimed directing debut for the 35-year-old actor.

In the decade since he won a Best Screenplay Oscar with pal Matt Damon for Good Will Hunting, Ben has gone from bright newcomer to blockbuster star to tabloid fodder. It has been a bruising rise and fall that would have sunk a less-talented actor.

But the surprising thing about Ben Affleck, considering his bad choices like Gigli, is how articulate and bright he is.

Multi-lingual in Spanish and French, his all-American good looks are matched by genuine depth and he's matter-of-fact about what has happened to his career.

"The first half of the media cycle was fascination, the second half was rejection. But what I never realised is that the public don't end up blaming the magazines that write every insane, untrue story."

He's a different person from his public image, says Ben - who admits to being scared during his first day as director. Prior to Gone Baby Gone he'd only directed a student film.

"I'm always described as 'cocksure' or 'with a swagger'. That bears no resemblance to who I feel like inside. I feel plagued by insecurity."

While depicting the tragedy of 1950s television Superman George Reeves in 2006 film Hollywoodland went some way to rejuvenating his acting career, Gone Baby Gone has really turned heads.

It stars Ben's brother Casey as dogged private eye Patrick Kenzie, who refuses to give up on looking for the missing child. Set in the gritty world of working-class Boston, it's full of tough miscreants and losers.

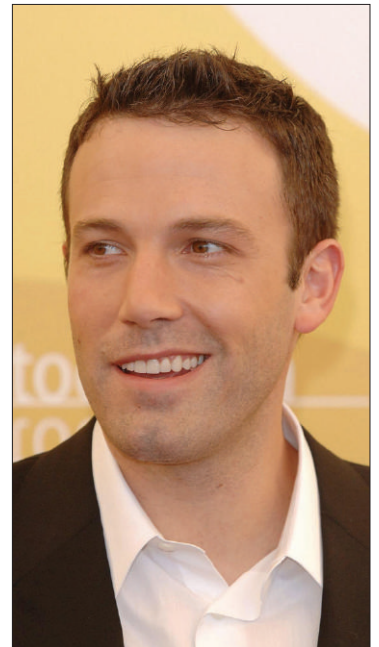

"I felt maybe this was a way to have a sense of authorship about what I was doing without having to stick my face out there," says Ben about sitting in the director's chair.

It's a film that raises all sorts of issues about how we live and treat children, he says. "At first you think the girl is a victim. Then you see the squalor the girl lives in and your heart goes out to her not only where she's been taken to but for where she used to live."

The film has echoes of the press frenzy over the Madeleine McCann case, but Ben cut back on making the media the bad guys in the film.

"I scaled back on that because Lehane really hammers the media in the book. I thought I can't do too much of this because, in a weird way, it was one of the ways my own hand might start to feel visible in the movie."

However, plans to show the film at the London Film Festival last October were put on

STILL HERE: Despite a career littered with highs and lows, Ben Affleck is still proving he's got what it takes hold by Disney because of the ongoing McCann case.

"We just thought it was better to err on the side of discretion," says Ben. "I'm proud to be associated with a company that made a decision I thought was respectful."

Ben will return to acting in the romance comedy He's Just Not That Into You with Jennifer Aniston and Scarlett Johansson, due for release later this year.

He counts himself very lucky in a business where many people fall by the wayside. He may have taken a hefty pay cut in Hollywood terms from his $12-million-plus-per-film heyday, but he is still paid a lot of money doing what he loves.

"I have really very little to feel sorry for myself about. People have legitimate hardships, so it's kind of petty for me to sit around ruminating about little dents in what has been a very fortunate life so far."

PROPERTY NEWS

It's time our value reviews went local

THE latest nationwide survey of house prices is far less important than regional studies, according to the National Association of Estate Agents.

The group says it paints an incorrect picture as it just gives an average of trends rather than taking into account area variations.

In Kent, prices have proved more resilient in the recent declining market as proximity to London and improving transport links have contributed to a better market.

Association chief executive Peter Bolton said: "The national sales figures do not tell the whole story.

"We know from our members that the picture is still very regional with some areas continuing to do better than others."

He also concluded that in terms of sales and viewing figures, as well as the decreasing gap between asking and final prices, the market was looking at becoming less fluctuating.

The Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors has also been examining the figures and experts concluded the property market would begin to stabilise when the number of transactions started to increase.

Buying isn't always your best option

RENTING an upscale rural home is becoming increasingly popular for people who want to live the country life but not fork out masses of cash.

Demand for country lettings is booming, with impressive Loddenden Manor, Staplehurst, a good example of the trend.

Set in 10 acres with eight bedrooms, stables, coach house and pool, it is on the market for £2.25 million. But for £8,000 a week it is available to rent with interest and stamp duty not a factor.

Manor Farm House near Faversham is another property with the same sort of attraction to a letter.

The four-bedroom property with its own three-bed stable cottage, billiard room and gymnasium would be available for rent at £6,000 a month with Savills. But to buy it would cost £1.5 million through Strutt and Parker.

Another factor is that most country homes which are available for letting ensure that major structural repair work is the responsibility of the landlord.

ONE TO LOOK AT

A new development by George Wimpey is pointing the way to a future in homes.

The three-storey show home is packed with design ideas for summer 2008 with fresh whites and rich burgundies the predominating colours.

The contemporary townhouse design features a lounge/dining room with French doors to the rear garden and also includes kitchen, entrance hallway and guest cloakroom.

Upstairs are two bedrooms and bathroom, while the top floor is given over to a master bedroom with walk-in dressing area and en-suite shower facilities.

The home cost is £219,995 and it can be viewed at Repton Park, Ashford.

Drop in prices puts ladder within reach

■ BY NICK AMES

TIMES are tough for first-time buyers in the housing market – yet they could discover help from an unexpected source.

Those unable to come up with enough cash for the deposit on a property could receive assistance from developers.

Incentives from those with homes to sell are becoming more and more common as companies start to realise how much stock they have on their hands – and no one is rushing forward to buy it.

SmartNewHomes.com is a website which analyses properties coming on to the market.

Managing director David Bexon said: "First-time buyers across the country are benefiting from a plethora of developer incentives as house-builders try to sell remaining stock. Now is a great time to drive a hard bargain."

These incentives can include help with deposits, legal fees and stamp duty, subsidised mortgage payments, cash-back offers or fitted kitchens and carpets included in the sale price.

David Wilson Homes is one company which has adopted a policy of assisting first-time buyers under a scheme called Head Start which has proved successful in recent weeks.

Customers are offered the option of paying 85 per cent of the purchase price of the property with funding from a bank or building society but with no deposit needed to be paid, while the remaining 15 per cent is offered as an interest-free loan by the developer.

The deferred amount is then paid back within 10 years of the purchase, or at the time of resale if this is earlier.

Meanwhile, Linden Homes South East is offering £750 a month towards mortgage payments for the first 18 months on some of its properties in west Kent.

Other prospective homeowners have taken the decision to sit out for the time being, waiting for prices to fall even further, forcing the sellers to offer more incentives.

Moneyfacts is a financial information service which has been examining that option.

Spokesman Andrew Haggard said: "With current levels of uncertainty and volatility surrounding the mortgage industry and the housing market, maybe it's worth sitting on the sidelines.

"If property prices were to fall 15 per cent in the next 18 months – which is conservative compared with some estimates – then those itching to get their foot on the housing ladder could benefit from a double whammy of very good savings rates – which are currently at a seven-year high – and the falling cost of that elusive first property."

Kent group adds Kia to its portfolio

MOTOR group Drake & Fletcher has added fast-growing Kia to its franchises.

The Korean brand joins Mazda and Hyundai on an existing site at Ashford Orbital Park, where Drake & Fletcher also has a separate Honda dealership.

Hyundai and Kia are sister brands, but D&F sees Kia fitting in as the sporting arm of the partnership – the low slung three-door Kia Proceed hatchback was launched this year – and Kia's seven-year warranty on selected models is a unique selling point in the UK.

Drake & Fletcher was founded in 1898 and, four generations on, is still owned and run by members of the founder's family.

New Patriot kit is the height of bling

JEEP has unveiled extra bling available for its attractively-priced junior model line-up, the Patriot.

Credible on and off-road and able to average 42mpg in best-selling 2.0-litre diesel form, the Patriot (from £15,995) can be equipped with a chrome grille, bodykit, sports suspension and 20-inch alloys.

The 'bling' packs start from £999 and owners can also specify an 'SE Lifestyle' interior at £1,199 and bringing leather effect centre armrest cover, four chrome loud speaker rings, chrome gearshift gate, leather gear knob and leather effect toppings.

Commute to work via the Skoda Greenline

SKODA dealers now have the greenest version of the new Fabia supermini in stock.

The 1.4 TDI Fabia Greenline can average around 70mpg and, with CO2 emissions of just 109g/km of CO2, is exempt from the London congestion charge – Kent car commuters take note.

This Czech eco car – £11,490 and £12,140 in hatch and estate form respectively – achieves this miserly feat through higher gearing, better aerodynamics and weight saved by replacing the spare tyre with a puncture repair kit.

STAR BUY: Despite its celestial name, the Daihatsu Sirion is a down-to-earth supermini with big car abilities, offering low fuel consumption and a surprisingly spacious interior

Space and star appeal of the Sirion supermini

MAJOR car makers have tried to register every possible model name, forcing others to come up with weird permutations.

So Daihatsu offers a supermini called the Sirion. The name could come from Lord of the Rings or starstruck marketing types allying Sirius with Orion – both probably owned by Ford – in the hope of ascendance on the sales front.

But there is nothing Tolkien-esque or celestial about the Sirion – it is a down-to-earth little car for the real world.

Underpinnings from the more expensive Toyota Yaris are clothed by a superbly practical and age-less five-door body and prices are competitive, from £7,495.

The three-cylinder 1.0-litre I had driven previously is the economy star, if rather sluggish and noisy. It averages around 55mpg and emits 118g/km of CO2, qualifying for just £35 a year road tax.

A far better all-rounder is the four-cylinder 1.3 (from £7,995) tested here; it is more refined and flexible with decent low down power, yet averages nearly 50mpg even if road tax jumps to the next band (£120/year) due to emissions of 137g/km.

However, this version is claimed to have the world's first self-regenerating catalyst, for a longer life and lower maintenance costs.

There is also a 1.5-litre version, but I question its relevance to what the Sirion is about, for this is a small and economical car with big car abilities – a brilliant all-rounder. It might sound like a Noddy motor, but bulbous wheelarches and a rakish window line give this boxy car some extra presence.

It carries five properly and split rear seats fold flat easily to create a van-like rear section or two other permutations. The rake of the rear rests can also be set to two positions and the car is packed with stowage bins and cubby holes.

Ride quality on a relatively long wheelbase is good and the 1.3-litre can be driven with passion too; the high body rolls a little, but grip is rarely compromised.

Air-con is fitted as standard and mid-spec SE brings alloys and rear parking sensors.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

CONVERTIBLES

SUMMER is here at last and our thoughts turn to convertibles, even if open top cars are regarded more and more as all-year round purchases, partly because of the growing breed of folding hardtop or 'coupe convertible' models that offer better looks and security. This week's mix of used buys covers this new type but also takes a close look at the excellent Mazda MX-5 – the affordable roadster that has done more than any other car to make the UK one of Europe's biggest markets for convertibles – despite the weather.

MAZDA MX-5

NOW into its third generation, the original MX-5 was inspired by classic British Triumph, MG and Lotus sports cars. Given Japanese reliability, it faced criticism over its lack of outright power and is more famous for its beautifully balanced handling. Models hold their value well, although an influx of 'Eunos' used imports from Japan drove down prices for the Lotus-lookalike Mk1 and the latest MkIII offers beefier looks and the most creature comforts, if you can stretch the budget.

VAUXHALL ASTRA

VAUXHALL surprised everybody with the success of the original Astra convertible, followed up with the brilliant Astra TwinTop – the name inspired by the electronic folding metal roof. Both four-seaters look good with the roof up or down and the TwinTop is a particularly good achievement when so many of its coupe convertible rivals look ungainly or 'boot heavy'. As with many 'chopped' hatchback convertibles, there is some body flex on both models, but don't let this break a deal.

PEUGEOT 206CC

MERCEDES pioneered folding metal roof convertibles with the SLK in the 1990s, but Peugeot brought the type to the mass market with the big-selling and plentiful 206CC. Based on the French marque's 206 hatchback and biggest seller, the 206CC even had two seats in the back, although it should never be considered anything more than a 2+2. While relatively affordable, there have also been reliability problems with the temperamental roof mechanism.

Kent is well on its way to achieving a 40% recycling rate, and at the same time seeing the amount of waste sent to landfill falling dramatically. Overall, household waste has decreased in Kent for the third year in succession. That's a significant achievement given the population growth in Kent.

The Changing Attitudes and Behaviours team works to raise the public's awareness through delivery of campaigns and projects that encourage householders to increase recycling and reduce their household waste.

We are now seeking a motivated person on a one year, full time, fixed term contract to join our team. This will be a fast paced but rewarding role and you will join a dedicated team, full of enthusiasm.

You will need to have excellent communication, organisational and administrative skills, and a can-do approach to work. Media experience in writing press releases and maintaining website pages is essential.

Starting salary £20,061, with progression through contribution related pay to £22,825 per annum
One year contract (may be extended subject to available budget and project evaluation)

You will join our busy East Kent PROW Team, based in East Brabourne.

Have you ever considered working in Kent? Known as the garden of England for a good reason, with its beautiful, historic and varied landscapes, idyllic villages and diverse towns, Kent has a lot to offer. On the doorstep of mainland Europe you are only 45 minutes away from enjoying a coffee and croissant in France, or of course popping into London to catch a show!

With over 6700km of public rights of way, Kent County Council manages the largest network in the country. It also has an excellent national reputation in service delivery and forward thinking, dynamic new initiatives.

The Countryside Access Service is looking for a new officer to join them to deliver capital maintenance programmes across the county. A substantial proportion of the network sits within the Kent Downs and High Weald Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty.

You will prepare and supervise programmes of capital works countywide. You will work closely with landowners, local councils and other agencies to secure all necessary consents and permissions.

The post carries a high-volume workload. You will be able to juggle numerous competing priorities and adapt readily to the use of new technology. You will be a team player and be competent to NVQ3 level in civil engineering/contract management/estate management or be able to demonstrate the same level of competency in a similar related area. The post also requires a high level of motivation, a good knowledge of rights of way law and practice and excellent organisational and communication skills. Ref: ER/08/0079

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Men better at saving but ISAs undervalued

MEN are putting more cash into savings accounts than women, according to new research from Yorkshire Building Society, which has branches in Canterbury and Chatham.

The statistics show that 62 per cent of people have at least £1,000 in a savings account and that men were 50 per cent more likely than women to have such an account.

However, the research also highlighted that more than a third of the people with more than £1,000 in savings don't have a tax-free ISA – individual savings account.

This means that there could be around 15 million people in the UK paying more money to the taxman than they should.

Businesses stay strong

MANUFACTURERS and retailers in the South East are being warned to remain vigilant and protect themselves against the credit crunch, despite a fall in the overall number of firms going into administration.

The Forum of Private Business, which has many members in the county, says that according to accountancy firm Deloitte, 282 businesses in London and the South East went into administration in the first quarter of 2008, compared to 288 in the same period of 2007.

Matt Goodman, the forum's policy representative, said: "Deloitte's figures represent how strong and resilient small businesses can be in the face of a tough economic climate."

Medway – focus of day

A RECENT one-day symposium – entitled Medway Lives, Gateway Futures: History, Community and Place – brought together more than 60 academics, policymakers and community group representatives for a series of talks and discussions.

The event was staged at the University of Kent's Medway campus in Chatham Maritime.

Topics under review included the legacy of industrialisation, regeneration and construction work, religion in everyday life and traveller communities.

It's personal – firms at risk because they don't have insurance

A STAGGERING one third of small enterprises in the South East are putting everything at risk – their business, employees and customers – by operating without any business insurance, according to new research.

If misfortune were to strike up to 25,500 of the region's 725,000 small businesses owners could be risking their homes by operating without insurance because they have personal guarantees against their business.

The nationwide survey of firms employing up to fifty people, carried out by OnePoll for Insurantz.com, uncovered a worrying attitude towards insurance.

In the South East, more than one in ten respondents were unsure whether they were insured and 29 per cent admitted to having little or no idea what their policy covers.

George Derbyshire, chief executive of the National Federation of Enterprise Agencies, said: "I am shocked by the results of this survey. Running a business is all about risk-taking, but we would always advocate a managed and informed approach to risk."

"Sensible entrepreneurs discuss the issues with their advisers in the knowledge that getting this wrong can be disastrous in human, financial and legal terms."

A quarter of small businesses in the South East could also face legal action as they were unaware that temporary workers and sub-contractors must be covered under statutory employers' liability insurance.

Uncovered companies risk heavy fines of up to £2,500 a day by failing to provide cover.

Last year there were more than 105,000 employer's liability personal injury claims.

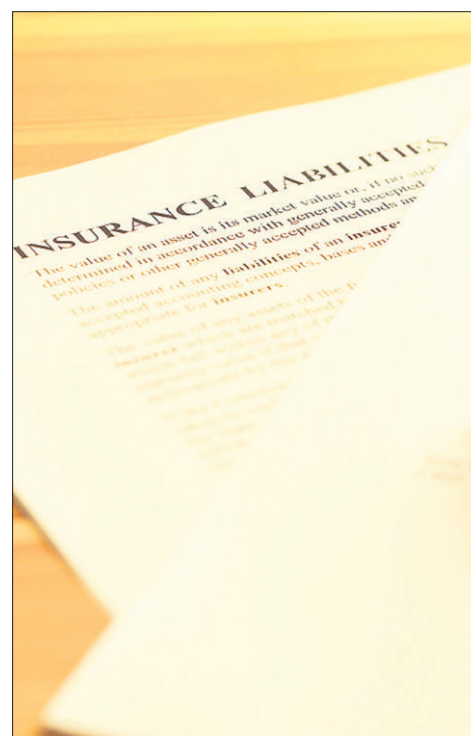

Failure to adequately insure is put down to the restrictive red tape which causes small businesses to spend hours filling in forms.

A third of respondents to the survey said arranging business insurance was too time-consuming and overly complicated, and this has pushed it very low in some people's priorities.

THE LAW: Your employer is responsible for your health and safety while you are at work. If you are injured as a result of an accident at work, or become ill as a result of your work, and if you believe your employer is responsible, you may seek compensation.

To make sure that your employer can pay the compensation they must take out an insurance policy. This is an employers' liability insurance. Employers' liability insurance will provide compensation for injuries or illness caused on or off site.

Any injuries or illness relating to motor accidents which occur as a result of your employment may be covered separately by your employer's motor insurance.

LIABILITY: One third of small firms does not have business insurance

Racer aiming to make Smart move

SCOTT Smart will be back in action in the British Superbike Championship this Sunday in the fifth round of the series at Snetterton.

The Maidstone rider was left disappointed as a mechanical failure on the bike saw him fall down the field last time out at Donington Park after starting sixth on the grid.

Smart will be hoping to build on his 12th position in the championship standings.

Kent motorsport team Jota Sport prepare for 24-hour Le Mans event

Mote unbeaten in five thanks to accurate Aukett

THE MOTE are still unbeaten this season despite only setting a total of 138 in a tight victory against Whitstable.

The side have won all their matches so far and now have an eight point lead at the top of Kent League Division One.

The home side were forced to work hard as their opening batsmen of Andrew Barr and Luke Newton were dismissed for just seven runs. Captain Glen Aukett and James Marriott steadied the ship by putting on 60 runs between them.

Accurate bowling from Whitstable prevented The Mote from setting a high score and were all out with three overs remaining for just 138.

CRICKET

BY TOM HOWARD

Aukett was once again the hero as his four wickets helped bowl Whitstable out for just 117.

Max Campbell was the only batsmen who showed some resistance, with a top score for the visitors of 24, before falling to the bowling of Aukett.

Laurence Waters and Stefan Pichowski claimed two wickets, with Kenny George and Kym Daley picking up one each.

The Mote will be looking to preserve their 100 per cent record when they take on struggling Sibton Park this Saturday.

KENT LEAGUE DIVISION FIVE

Addington CC - 1st XI
v Offham CC - 1st XI

DESPITE a six-wicket haul for Andy Cox, Offham fell to a comprehensive defeat at the hands of Addington.

The home side chose to bat first and managed to set a total of 134 runs with Lance Roudenko top scoring with 53. Cox impressed for Offham taking the first five wickets and ended with figures of 6-30.

Addington's bowling attack was even more impressive as they bowled Offham out for just 76 runs to secure victory. Only three Offham batsmen reached double figures with Tom Gittings top scoring with just 18.

Betteshanger Colliery Welfare 1st XI
v Yalding 1st XI

THE TOWE brothers proved to be the downfall of Yalding, as they were unable to stop Betteshanger Colliery Welfare by 89 runs.

Joffy and Derek Towe put on a sixth wicket stand of 102 on their way to setting a total of 164 for Yalding to chase.

Once the Yalding openers of Peter Bowles and James Dugmore were dismissed for just 23 and 14 respectively, defeat was inevitable. Just 38 runs were added to their total by the remaining batsmen, meaning Yalding fell way short of the 164 total.

Highways CC - 1st XI

JANAKA Kerr was juts ten runs off scoring a century as Highways smashed Petts Wood to win by 87 runs.

Highways were bowled out for a commanding total of 227, with Kerr top scoring with 90 and Hemang Moddy nearly clinching a half century with 48.

Despite a five-wicket haul from Geoff Attaway, Highways never looked like being beaten as none of the Petts Wood batsmen could come to terms with their bowling attack.

The victory sends Highways to second in the league behind runaway leaders Sidcup.

Future looks bright, says Stones chief

FOOTBALL

BY TOM HOWARD

MAIDSTONE United chairman Paul Bowden-Brown believes the team are in a much better position in comparison to last season.

Since surviving the dreaded drop from the Ryman Premier League after beating Folkestone Invicta on the last day of the season, managers Alan Walker and Lloyd Hume have been busy acquiring players.

Already the club have secured the services of Andy Walker, Roland Edge, Kevin Watson and Ian Cox. The former Margate duo of Jay Saunders and James Pincock have also put pen to paper and the Stones chief expects more to follow.

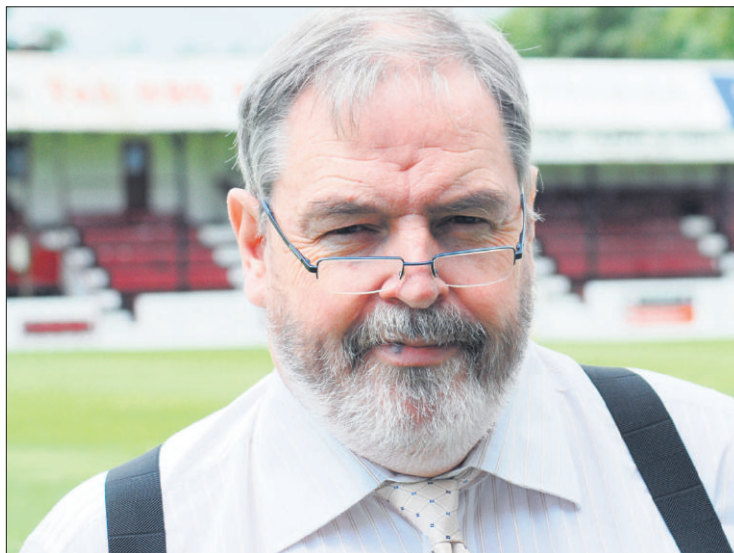

Faith

Bowden-Brown told Yourmaidstone: "I am very happy with the progress we have made so far with the players we have brought in.

"I have got total faith in the managers in Lloyd and Alan for the new season. We can never say never, but I feel that the preparations we have made will mean that we will not be in a position like we were in at the end of last season."

Despite the six new signings, Bowden-Brown feels the club needs to replace striker Mo Takaloo, who joined Ramsgate last month.

He said: "I think it is well documented that Alan and Lloyd are looking for another striker, but the problem at this point of the season, is

BRIGHT FUTURE: Maidstone United chairman Paul Bowden-Brown is looking forward to the beginning of the new season players are moving all over the place. It is a bit of merry-go-round which can be tough to deal with as a manager.

"However, we must not forget about the players that have left the club – they have got us in the position we are in today."

Maidstone have finalised their Football

Foundation community club bid and are due to hand it to the FA.

If successful, the club stands to receive a sum of money which will be used to help finance the construction of their new ground at James Whatman Way. It is unlikely that a decision will be made before the start of the new season.

New floodlight queries delay running track

ATHLETICS

MEDWAY & Maidstone Athletics club's proposed new facility has been delayed once again after an illness to a key club official prevented them from presenting their case at the planning meeting last week.

The project, planned by the athletics club and Sutton Valence School, has been held up several times in the past six months and they face another frustrating wait.

A floodlit 400-metre all-weather track is part of the plans on the grounds of the school, along with facilities for all field events including long jump, javelin, hammer and high jump.

However, residents of the Sutton Valence area have aired their views over the proposal to construct floodlights at the site, which forced the track to be re-designed earlier this year.

If planning permission is granted this month at the newly-arranged meeting with Maidstone council, the facility could be up and running inside 16 weeks. Maidstone has never had a permanent athletics facility, which means athletes from the area have to travel to the Julie Rose Stadium in Ashford or the Deangate track at Hoo.

Adrian Lowther of Medway & Maidstone Athletics Club said: "For the sake of going to the meeting and having some questions left unanswered we have decided to postpone the meeting for three or four weeks."

It is hoped the new facility will attract more people from the town to get involved in athletics.

Their case for planning permission will now be heard on June 26.

Reeves bitten by the Isle of Man TT bug

SIDECARS

SIDECAR ace Tim Reeves has confirmed he will be racing in next year's Isle of Man TT after securing the best finish by a rookie in the event for 30 years.

Reeves and passenger Patrick Farrance secured third place in race one and a sixth-place finish in last Wednesday's second race on the 37.7-mile course.

The Wateringbury-based rider is already preparing for a second assault on the island next year and is now looking for a faster bike.

Reeves told Yourmaidstone: "I will definitely be competing in next year's event without doubt and I hope we will be able to get a faster bike."

"I have already sold my machine so I am looking to a new bike which we can put our year of experience into for 2009."

"In the second race we were flying, but the pace of the bike cost us."

"If we could have squeezed another one mile an hour out of the machine in our average speed times, we would have been fighting right at the sharp end."

The three-time world champion shocked both fellow competitors and spectators with his pace on the TT course by setting the fastest ever lap by a rookie.

He said: "There were a lot of doubters when we announced our entry into the event and we have proved them all wrong."

"Many people said that because we are used to riding a faster bike on race circuits instead of roads, that we would struggle, but we showed them."

Impressive ton-up Dexter keeps cool

KENT Spitfires are through to the semi-final of the Friends Provident Trophy where they will play holders Durham Dynamos after holding their nerve in a tense 37-run win over Somerset Sabres.

Rob Key's side were indebted to 23-year-old Neil Dexter's unbeaten 101 and some excellent bowling at the death from Pakistani all-rounders Yasir Arafat and Azhar Mahmood.

Key, who hit a fluent 73 for the Spitfires in a stand of 104 with Dexter, was delighted with the young batsman's attitude despite suffering a slow start after coming in at the last minute for Martin van Jaarsveld.

He said: "In one-day cricket there's nothing worse than not having the scoreboard ticking over. He found it hard to get going and that's the time when a lot of players would panic and throw their wicket away."

"The impressive thing about his innings was he managed to put it to the back of his mind and accelerate. To get 100 at almost a run-a-ball after his start is some achievement."

The Kent skipper is now looking forward to an entertaining clash at Durham's Riverside Ground on either July 4 or 5.

He said: "They are a decent side and the defending champions, but we won the Twenty20 last year and we seem to play our at best in the knock-out stages."

"Winning some silverware gives us that extra bit of confidence but it all depends what happens on the day and it will be a pretty tough fixture."

While the Spitfires are gearing up for the semi-final, they have been preparing for the defence of their Twenty20 crown which starts with a game against old adversaries Sussex at the St Lawrence Ground.

With the announcement that the winner of this year's competition will be entered into the inaugural Champions League, the Spitfires will be looking to make it to finals day again at the Rose Bowl on July 26.

Play starts at 5.40pm. For updates visit www.yourashford.co.uk.
